REFLECTION

My dear friends today we celebrate the Twenty-eighth Sunday in Ordinary Time Year A. Today's readings remind us that God continually invites us to the banquet of his love and grace, despite our life circumstances - sickness or health; abundance or lack; suffering or joy. But sometimes, in the busyness of life or presumption, we can become so distracted that we miss what God is offering us.

In the second reading taken from St. Paul's letter to the Philippians, St. Paul recounts that he has experienced both abundance and poverty, comfort and hardship. Yet he has learned an important lesson: his joy and strength do not depend on his circumstances. He says, "I have learned the secret of being well fed and of going hungry, of living in abundance and of being in need." When Paul says, "I can do all things through him who strengthens me," he is not saying that he can achieve anything he wants. He means that, with Christ's strength, he can face whatever situation life brings. Whether things are going well or badly, he knows that he is not alone.

Paul is also grateful to the Philippians because they supported him in his difficulties. Their generosity became a concrete expression of their love and fellowship in the Gospel. This challenges us to ask: Where do I find my strength? We can easily depend on money, success, recognition or the approval of others. But these things can change. Christ remains our constant strength. At the same time, Paul reminds us to notice people who are struggling and to become generous towards them. God often answers someone's prayer through our kindness.

Mis queridos amigos, hoy celebramos el Vigésimo Octavo Domingo del Tiempo Ordinario, Año A. Las lecturas de hoy nos recuerdan que Dios continuamente nos invita al banquete de su amor y gracia, a pesar de nuestras circunstancias de vida - enfermedad o salud; abundancia o carencia; sufrimiento o alegría. Pero a veces, en medio del ajetreo de la vida o de la presunción, podemos distraernos tanto que perdemos lo que Dios nos está

En la segunda lectura tomada de la carta de San Pablo a los Filipenses, San Pablo relata que ha experimentado tanto la abundancia como la pobreza, el bienestar y las dificultades. Sin embargo, ha aprendido una lección importante: su alegría y su fortaleza no dependen de sus circunstancias. Dice: "Heaprendido el secreto de estar bien alimentado y de pasar hambre, de vivir en la abundancia y de estar necesitado." Cuando Pablo dice: "Todo lo puedo en aquel que me fortalece", no está diciendo que puede lograr cualquier cosa que quiera. Quiere decir que, con la fuerza de Cristo, puede afrontar cualquier situación que la vida le presente. Ya sea que las cosas vayan bien o mal, sabe que no está solo.

Pablo también está agradecido a los filipenses porque lo apoyaron en sus dificultades. Su generosidad se convirtió en una expresión concreta de su amor y comunión en el Evangelio. Esto nos desafía a preguntarnos: ¿Dónde encuentro mi fortaleza? Podemos depender fácilmente del dinero, el éxito, el reconocimiento o la aprobación de los demás. Pero estas cosas pueden cambiar. Cristo permanece como nuestra Fortaleza constante. Al mismo tiempo, Pablo nos recuerda que debemos fijarnos en las personas que están pasando dificultades y ser generosos con ellas. Dios a menudo responde a la oración de alguien a través de nuestra bondad.
